Students Receive Scholarships At Ceremonies Last Friday

Parents, teachers and students assembled in the High School Auditorium Friday afternoon to witness the largest presentation of scholarships that has been seen in Coleman for many years. Two of the scholarships this year were major awards that saw Coleman students winning out over those from other centres. Winners of the awards were:

Grade 9: Wm. Truch and Jo-Ann Montalbetti.

Grade 10: Helen Makowichuk (80.1%) Bill Kubik (87%).

Grade 11: Adam Kryczka (83.09) Ralph Ryznar (82.18) Margaret Slaska (71.12).

Grade 12: Joseph Kryczka. Nurses Scholarship; Elsie Sikora.

Hotelmen's Scholarship; Joseph Kryczka.

Principal Allen in opening the ceremonies recalled how often the school auditorium is called upon for athletic, musical, cultural and other activities, yet never called upon for a use of greater value than the use it was being put to at this time. "I am still old fashioned enough," Mr. Allen asserted "to believe that the primary function of a school is to bring out academic results. A student upon graduating should be equipped to go on and gather further knowledge, take further training. If they can do this the school has served its purpose."

Scholarships are gaining in popularity and add the incentive to school work. Scholarships in Coleman were started by the Elks Lodge, followed by the School Board, the O.O.R.P. and this year the Lions Club. These scholarships are not given away, they are earned by the winners by means of hard work.

In calling the various winners to the front of the platform, Mr. Allen started with grade 9, calling first upon Wm. Truch, of whom he claimed was an asset to the school, the kind of person they like to have around. Sonny he stated, was a live wire, a good worker. Of the other winner, Jo-Ann Montalbetti, he could say exactly the same, Jo-Ann having a well rounded personality, active in student affairs, a member of the school orchestra and an honor student in her musical studies. Competition for both students was strong, 31 in the grade nine getting pass and 4 honor students in a class of 35. Adam Wilson represented the Elks lodge in making the presentation and wished the winners continued success. Both winners thanked the sponsors, parents, teacher and fellow students.

The School District scholarships for grade 10 saw a second time winner in the person of Helen Makowichuk, a girl that has been active in all school activities and one who would assist in any matter that came to her attention. The second winner for this grade, Wm. Kubik, proved to be an above average student showing ability and co-operation in activities. Modest by nature, he comes from parents with the desire to co-operate.

TWO TIME WINNER

In addition to winning the Hotelmen's Scholarship as announced previously, Joe Kryczka was awarded the Grade 12 scholarship.

In the absence of School Board members, Nora Goulding, secretary, made the presentation and emphasized that they should realize now that their efforts had been worthwhile. Both winners suitably thanked all who had helped during their schooling.

A new award this year, the Lions' scholarship for grade 11 was awarded to the three top students regardless of sex. Of the winners, one was Adam Kryczka, a family name that is familiar at times as this. Adam is regarded a good all round student and athlete, quiet, courteous and considerate, as well as a keen student. Fellow winner

Ralph Ryznar won the Governor General's Medal in 1951, the grade 10 award in 1952 and repeated for grade 11 this year. A member of the school orchestra, he is considered an asset to the school. Margaret Slaska won her first award this year but has always been among the top students. She is quiet, pleasant cheerful and conscientious student.

In making the presentation, J. R. Hill had further to say regarding the winners, drawing attention to Ralph's aviation awards. Of Adam he mentioned the fact that he had been associated with the Kryczka boys on road trips during the hockey season and knew them to be gentlemen with clean language. They were, he said, a credit to their school, themselves and their parents as well as their teachers. Mr. and Mrs. Kryczka may justly be proud of the record of their family this year.

The C.N.P. Nurses scholarship for this year was awarded Elsie Sikora, who at present is already in training at Edmonton. In calling Mrs. Nora Bunning to make the award, Mr. Allen asserted that should she know Elsie she would realize that she too was a worthwhile student with a wonderful personality and certain to be a success. Her sisters Frances and Ann were well on their way to careers and Mr. and Mrs. Sikora were proud of their daughters, just as the daughters are proud of Mr. and Mrs. Sikora.

Mrs. Sikora received the award on behalf of her daughter, Mr. Sikora extending thanks.

The O.O.R.P. Scholarship for grade 12, presented by Mrs. Chabillon, was the first of two awards that was presented to Joseph Kryczka at the services. As was mentioned in last week's Journal, Joe has behind him an impressive academic record, winning 3 awards in a possible three during his schooling here as well as the $500 Hotelmen's award, presented by Sonny Richards.

In winning the southern Alberta award, Joe amassed an average of 81% a very commendable achievement. In speaking of the winning, Mr. Allen stated that Joe had been in very fast company and that when you play on a good team your efforts must be good to keep in front. Last year's grade 12 was a good team and Joe must thank his competition for getting him to the top. Thirty one students were enrolled in grade 12 and of that amount twenty eight are already on their way or preparing to go in search of further education.

In introducing Joe to Mr. Richards, principal Allen stated, "You are not giving anything away today, you are only making an investment just as if you were investing in Dominion of Canada Bonds. The only difference is that in this case your return will be greater."

Sentinel Man Passes

Torao Hayashi, 38-year-old Japanese resident of Sentinel, passed away suddenly in hospital at Blairmore Thursday.

Deceased was born in Coughlan, British Columbia, on Sept. 24, 1914. He attended school and remained until 1940 when he moved to the west coast. He came to Sentinel in 1945 and gained employment at the Summit Lime works as a powder man and remained employed there until the time of his death. Surviving are his wife Tugiko and seven small children at Sentinel; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tatsuo Hayashi at Picture Butte, and a brother attending the University of Alberta in Edmonton.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to all those who were so kind during our recent sad bereavement — Mrs. Betty F. Hayashi and family and T. Hayashi and family.

G. DeCecco Succumbs After Lengthy Illness

Giovanni DeCecco, 65, passed away in the C.N.P. hospital Tuesday. Prayers were said at Culhams Funeral Parlors on Wednesday night, and Requiem High Mass conducted by Father Sullivan at Holy Ghost Church on Thursday. Burial was made in Holy Ghost cemetery.

Born at Braulins, Udine, Italy Sept. 15, 1888, he came to Wycliff B.C. in 1913 later returning to Italy. Following service with the Italian army he came to Coleman in 1923. Employed as a mason at International mine, he retired one year ago.

Surviving to mourn his loss are his wife Domenico at Coleman, a son Anthony, at Cranbrook, a daughter Lucia in Italy and 6 grandchildren.

Council Considers Purchasing Building To Store Equipment

The mayor and all councillors with the exception of Ramsay and Wood sat in regular session a week ago Tuesday night.

During the opening minutes John McDonald, Controller of Civil Defence, waited on council discussing the proposed plans for the fall and winter. It was reported that a training school would be conducted as was the case two years ago, directed more at the general public, giving them information. Organization is good, only a few sections needing additional personnel.

Mr. McDonald desired to know if the council wished C.D. to continue and if so asked that they assist in obtaining a location for the meetings. Council felt that Coleman had an organization that was ahead of that found in the cities and that the town could not afford to let it go, such a setup being of value in any emergency. Walter Dibblee and Angelo Toppano were delegated to wait on the School Board in an effort to having accommodation provided there. It was also moved that a cupboard be built in the town hall basement for the storage of Civil Defence material.

Street signs came under discussion again with emphasis placed on the type of sign that would be needed and the wording. Crosswalks signs are considered as a means of providing pedestrian safety.

Permission for tag days on the next two pay Saturdays was granted, the Nurses' Auxilliary conducting a tag on Sept. 26th and the O.O.R.P. conducting their annual tag day for the Institute For The Blind on October 10.

It was decided that a delegation of three to be named later would represent Coleman at the Union of Alberta Municipalities Convention in Lethbridge next month. A report of the executive meeting was read with a report rounded out by Mayor Abbousa. Following this the secretary read the proposed program for the meet, showing that Mayor Abbousa will reply to address of welcome.

A quotation on the price for a building owned by C. Roggiani was considered, council deciding to purchase the building if a lease on the land can be obtained. The building if purchased will be utilized to store town equipment and eliminate the problem that has been discussed for some time.

Joe Malanchuk was appointed enumerator this year and it was decided that a full count will be taken.

Councillor Bond brought up Parks again this meeting asking that a sum be allocated towards straightening the river in the area. Further discussion brought about the opinion that for a start the river bed could be cleaned and large rocks removed. Also under consideration was beautification by means of planting flowers on the wall of No. 3 highway going past the Anglican church and also on the curve coming into town from the highway. The cemetery report showed that test holes have not been made as yet to ascertain the life of present accommodation.

Relief matters were placed before the council in the closing minutes, all members agreeing that the present amounts were not sufficient. A motion was made that relief be increased to $25 per month for the present and a plan for a sliding scale be considered.

Matters relating to the construction of the highway still crop up, this time falling rocks at the cut demanding council's attention. Mayor Abbousa stated that he had reported the danger to Mr. Henderson and it was decided to follow this up with a letter to the government.

Mrs. H. Maslen Bereaved

Mrs. Harold Maslen received the sad news of the passing of her father Charles Albert Vaile at Lethbridge last Sunday.

Eighty four years of age, Mr. Vaile had marked his 84th birthday only the day before his death.

Mr. Vaile opened and operated a ranch in the Macleod district known as the Porcupine Hills district for approximately 50 years, where he and Mrs. Vaile were highly respected by friends and neighbors. In 1945 he sold his ranch and moved to Coleman where they resided for several years before moving to Lethbridge.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Agnes Vaile, six sons and five daughters.

The unit, shown in operation here, permits diesel locomotive wheels to be machined without removing either the wheels or trucks from under the locomotive, and will be used in the servicing of diesel locomotives operating on the Kootenay-Kettle Valley divisions of the C.P.R. in southern British Columbia. Its purpose is to restore by means of specially designed milling cutters the normal contour of the tread and flange of wheels worn by operation of locomotives over frequent, tight curves on the right-of-way through mountainous territory.

Practical Education For Farm

(This is one in a series of short articles prepared by E. H. Lange, Director of the Diploma Course in Agriculture at the University of Manitoba and sponsored jointly by the Manitoba Department of Agriculture and the Faculty of Agriculture and Home Economics at the University of Manitoba.)

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS BELIEVE IN EDUCATION

The successful operation of a farm has always required ability and knowledge. Ability comes, to a great extent, by inheritance, and it is fortunate for us, and the world, that common sense and ability is to be found in abundance among the farmers of Canada. Most farming knowledge, however, is obtained by experience. There is no substitute for experience. There was a time when experience was considered sufficient for successful operation. This is hardly true anymore. The farmer who reads, listens to the radio, and goes further afield for new ideas and knowledge is usually more successful provided he maintains what is called "common sense". Thus, while farm experience is as essential as ever, education for Agriculture has become more and more important. The best farmers, the most successful ones, make sure that their sons and daughters supplement their experience gained on the farm, by formal education to enable them to meet the ever increasing complexities of modern farm operations.

The Diploma Course in Agriculture at The University of Mantoba and the Agricultural and Homemaking School at Brandon are designed to give practical information to farm young people. Courses of four and five months duration are given at these institutions during the winter months when work is not so pressing on the farm. Exquisites are always welcome and calendars may be obtained by writing The University of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture.

Funny and Otherwise

A young business man returned home tired out from a hard day at the office and his two children rushing madly about the house. He scolded them and sent them off to bed.

The next morning he found this note pinned to his bedroom door: "Be good to your children they will be good to you. Yours truly, God."

"What did your wife say when you got home from the club dinner last night?"

"Not a word. I was going to have my two front teeth extracted, anyway."

"Yesterday John asked me to marry him and make him the happiest man in the world."

"And which have you decided to do?"

Watson returned to his native town after some years abroad.

"Has Watson changed much in the years he has been away?" asked one who had heard of his return but had not yet seen him.

"No," said the man addressed, "but he thinks he has. He persists in talking about what a fool he used to be."

An exasperated Hollywood producer was describing his holiday.

"Did I have trouble with my wife?" he complained. "She's the type of person who's never satisfied. She had to go to a hotel that charges a hundred dollars a day. The next day she had to go out horse riding. So what does she do but fall off the horse and get knocked unconscious. I called a doctor and he said she'd be unconscious for 10 weeks."

"Unconscious for 10 weeks?" exclaimed a listener. "What on earth did you do?"

"Moved to a very much cheaper hotel!"

Every American boy has a chance to be President when he grows up—and that's just one of the risks he has to take.

A politician has to be able to see both sides of an issue so he can get around it.

An expectant father — a commercial traveller—not desiring to cover often to know his secret, arranged that the nurse should, on the happy day, send him a telegram in code. If a boy: "Saturday's joint arrived." If a girl: "Sunday's joint arrived."

Imagine his surprise on receiving a telegram: "Saturday's and Sunday's joints arrived. Expecting a rabbit on Monday."

When Sam was asked how he budgeted his income, he replied: "Oh, about 40 per cent. for food, 30 per cent. for rent, 30 per cent. for clothing, and 20 per cent. for amusement and incidentals."

"But that makes 120 per cent."

"Don't I know it!" agreed Sam with a groan.

"I've had a worrying time with the insurance people. They ask me to sign a statement. They even wanted to know the state of my mind."

"How absurd! I suppose you left that blank."

A peasant was taken to hospital for a serious operation. Before it was performed he was given a good bath. As he left the bathroom he exclaimed: "The operation was not so bad after all!"

Date For Annual Seed Grain Show Is Announced

WEYBURN.—Final arrangements have now been completed to hold the seventh annual fall seed grain, storage vegetable, and honey show at the Legion here Oct. 17. The show is sponsored jointly by the Weyburn Agricultural society and the senior chamber of commerce.

It was announced that a tractor rodeo will be staged in conjunction with the fair. Members of four junior tractor clubs, located in the district have been invited to take part in the rodeo. The rodeo will probably be staged behind the Legion hall in the city parking lot.

Prize lists for the fair will be ready soon, and as in other years, big prizes will be offered in all classes covering a wide variety of grains, sheaves, storage vegetables, preserved fruit and honey. Lists will be made available by secretary Roy Schultz.

The Weyburn regional fair is planned to cover entries from the entire southeastern portion of the province and includes some 38 rural municipalities.

Fair officials feel that in this area there is bound to be many outstanding samples or an excess of farm produce included in the prize lists.

Special hall exhibits are also planned and will include such matters as chemical treatment of grains and storage bins, and seed cleaning.

Judging of all classes of exhibits will be completed Oct. 16. On the evening of Oct. 17 an agricultural rally and banquet is being planned. Arrangements are being made for special speakers at this rally.

Human Interest "Best Asset" In Weekly Newspaper Work

SASKATOON.—Human interest was "the greatest asset the weekly newspaper business has," Tom Melville-Ness, business manager of Canada's third largest agricultural weekly, the Western Producer in Saskatoon, told some 350 delegates to the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association's annual convention at a luncheon meeting.

"Newspaper readers are eternally interested in people," he said. "The farmers, doctors, fishermen, anyone that does things for the sake of doing, rather than for fame or publicity—those are the backbone of the weekly newspapers."

Mr. Melville-Ness divided people into three types as far as their relations with newspapers were concerned.

First, there's the housewife that raised the best tomatoes, the

Scotty Craigmyle Veteran Jockey To Retire

CALGARY.—One of the greatest jockeys who ever rode on Western horses, John (Scotty) Craigmyle is retiring as a jockey as the summer season ends.

Craigmyle began his saddle career before most jockeys now riding in the West were born. He is one of an illustrious line of great jockeys from the West, including Johnny Longden and the late George Woolf.

The "Flying Scotsman" last year won his 1,000th race of a career that started in 1925 at Salt Lake City, Utah, although he was born in Calgary. He rode his first winner at Tia Juana in Mexico in 1926 and made his debut on the Prairies the same year.

Since then he has ridden on many major race tracks and his services are in demand.

Craigmyle was the leading jockey at Tia Juana in 1926, and his contract was sold to Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $15,000. He rode for that big stable for two years, and was aboard the famous Sun Beau in most of that colts races.

He considers Reigh Count, sire of Count Fleet, the greatest horse he ever rode. Scotty says "George Woolf was the greatest rider ever to come out of Canada, and he regards Laverne Fator as the greatest of all time."

Craigmyle's major riding feat has been winning the Canadian Derby at Winnipeg four times. He has twice won the $5,000 added Alberta Derby, one short of a record, and in 1951 won the $5,000 added Speer to Spare Handicap at Edmonton, Alberta's major open feature race. That time he was aboard Sir Lennard, owned by Lee Lear, former coach of Calgary's football tamperers.

After the fall meet in Winnipeg, Craigmyle plans to concentrate on a new job with Alberta Ranches Ltd., Calgary, where he'll work with Johnny Longden and the latter's son, Vance.

This summer he flew to California to ride Alberta Ranches' Indian Hemp in the Hollywood Gold Cup.

He is married to a Vancouver girl, sister of a jockey, and they have two sons.

Announce Winners In Competition

TORONTO.—Winners in the three divisions of the Canadian Twelvesday competition were announced at a board meeting here of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. Cups will be presented to the winners.

Winners are: Essay competition on rural homes — Mrs. Leigh de Long, Kempt, N.S.; honorable mention, Mrs. Bruce Edie, Dugald, Man. Twelvesday history (group effort) — Glenora, Ont.; honorable mention, Pense, Sask.

Handicraft (group effort)—Appointed quilt of original design, Conquest Homesteaders Club, Sask. Frances Mackay, of Winnipeg, said there was a greater interest in the competition this year than ever before.

Redwater Oil Field To Be Re-pressurized

REDWATER, Alta.—The Redwater field, Canada's largest oil-producing area 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, is due for a long drink of water. The 24 operators in the 60-square-mile field are planning to unitize the region and repressurize it by a water-injection program.

Millions of barrels of water from rivers-supplied wells would be delivered to the oil wells by a net-pumped beneath the prolific D-3 pool to keep oil moving up.

More than 900 wells have produced about 60,000,000 barrels of oil since Redwater was discovered in October, 1948. With all that oil taken out of the ground and water comes with it something has to be put back to maintain pressure at the bottom of the wells.

The bottom-hole pressure at Redwater now is about 800 pounds per square inch. The danger point when pressure of gas in solution in the oil stops bringing it to the surface is some 600 PSI. Originally the pressure was 1,050.

Already $1,000,000 has been spent on purchases of pipe and other equipment required for repressurizing.

The initial step is unitizing, treating the field as a single unit with a zone allowable production rate under conservation principles. This has been agreed upon by the operators but there still is disagreement on the exact method to be applied.

Among the benefits from such a program would be a faster return on investment due to a larger production quota and an ultimate 20 per cent. increase in actual oil recovery.

Experts estimate that when a water-injection program is carried out, the daily average production at Redwater may be increased two or three times. They say that if it isn't done, allowable rates will have to be sliced by about 50 per cent. to abide by best engineering practices.

Those associated with the plan say it is not the intention now to put enough water back under ground to bring bottom-hole pressure back to its original state. Instead, once the flooding project has started, an attempt will be made to match barrel for barrel the oil removed, thus keeping pressure constant and safe.

The gas and sulphur-saturated water now brought up with the oil is merely dumped into pits at the well site, often overflowing and damaging nearby farm land.

The repressurizing program is very important when it is considered that Redwater accounts for almost one-third of Western Canada's proven oil reserves, having a net recoverable reserve of 620,000,000 barrels. Last year it produced almost half of Alberta's total crude output.

One other Alberta field, Golden Spike, already is unitized and operated on a pool allowable. But there is no multi-operator problem there because the pool is owned outright by Imperial Oil.

Harvest Time Is Accident Time—Be Careful

With the onset of harvesting operations, safety workers throughout the province are urging farm families to take special precautions to avert harvest accidents.

Last year during the August-October period, 13 persons were killed in harvest accidents involving swathers, combines, threshing machines, grain augers and hay balers. In addition, many others suffered temporary and permanent injuries.

Safe farm practices are essential if a similar toll of Saskatchewan farm folk is to be avoided this year, it was emphasized. Haste and neglect are most often the cause of farm accidents.

An analysis of last year's harvest fatalities prepared by the Division of Health Education in connection with the Department of Public Health's farm and home safety program revealed that seven members of farm families were killed in combine accidents alone. Of these, four died when they were crushed by falling combine tables and two caught legs in combine feeders. One died when he was hit by a combine wheel.

One farmer was killed when he was caught in a swather blade and one fell into a threshing machine. Two persons died from fatal injuries when caught in grain augers and two were victims of accidents with balers.

When operating a harvesting machine, special care should be taken to see that everyone is clear of the cutting blade when starting up. The same applies when grain trucks are being backed up to the outfit.

Harvesting machinery should always be stopped for oiling as climbing around or over a running combine may have disastrous results. When making repairs under the combine table, blocks should always be used.

Fire precautions in the field at harvest time include suitable fire extinguishers on all trucks, tractors and combines. Chaff should not be allowed to accumulate around motor exhausts.

THE PRICELESS INGREDIENT

In the city of Bagdad lived Hakeem, the Wise One, and many people went to him for counsel, for he was admired and respected by all who knew him or had heard of him. And he gave advice freely to all, asking nothing in return.

One day there came to him a young man who had spent much but had received little in return. And the young man said, "Tell me, Wise One, what shall I do to receive the most for that which I spent?"

Hakeem answered, "A thing that is bought or sold has no value unless it contains that which cannot be bought or sold. Look for the Priceless Ingredient!"

"But," asked the young man "what is the Priceless Ingredient?"

Spoke then the Wise One, "My son, the Priceless Ingredient of every product in the market place is the Honor and Integrity of him who makes it. Consider his name before you buy."

In these days of keen competition and high pressure salesmanship, the marketplace is basically the same. Whether a man is in the business of selling clothing, hardware, foods, drugs, motor cars or advertising, Honor and Integrity are his best salesmen.

Look for the Priceless Ingredient.

FORMER COLEMAN EDITOR AND PUBLISHER HONORED

H. T. Halliwell, former publisher editor of the Coleman Journal was honored last week-end when the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association acknowledged the activities of Mr. Halliwell during his long association with the group. During the opening day ceremonies, Mr. Halliwell was presented with a framed certificate, presented to all past presidents.

At Saturday's meeting Charles Clarke of the High River Times presented Mr. Halliwell with a life membership in the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association.

St. Alban's W.A.

The first Fall meeting of St. Alban's Women's Association was held on Sept. 8 at the home of Mrs. R. Pattinson. Four new members attended.

Business opened with the roll call by the treasurer, Mrs. L. Sist, and the reading of the minutes by the secretary Mrs. H. G. Dunlop. The financial statement and correspondence followed. At the request of the president Mrs. C. Clarke, Mrs. W. Purvis gave her report on the church sliding fund. It proved very satisfactory and pointed out that a great many thanks are due to all the workers who helped beautify St. Alban's church.

The item of prime interest was the Rummage Sale which is to be held on Wednesday, October 14 in the Parish hall. Members with cars offered to pick up donations if necessary. A buffet tea was suggested to add to the sociability of the afternoon. The association hopes to receive donations of good used clothing, household and miscellaneous articles.

Other minor business was discussed, following which Mrs. L. Sist kindly offered to be hostess for the October 6th meeting. A tasty lunch and social time brought the evening to a close.

Bishop F. P. Carroll Conducts Confirmation

Bishop Carroll administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to one hundred and nine children and two adults in Coleman.

Most Reverend Francis P. Carroll, D.D., Bishop of Calgary made his episcopal visitation to Holy Ghost church on Monday evening, September 14, and administered the Sacrament of confirmation to one of the largest classes in the history of the parish.

After the liturgical reception at the entrance of the church, His Excellency spoke to the large congregation, stressing the urgent need of more vocations to the priesthood and sisterhood. He also congratulated the parishioners on the fine appearance of the church and the much needed enlargement.

Before administering the Sacrament, the Bishop questioned the children on their knowledge of the Christian doctrine.

The ceremony concluded with Solemn Benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament. Assisting the Bishop in the ceremonies were Dean L. Sullivan, P.P., of Coleman; Rev. A. Anderson, P.P., of Blairmore; Rev. B. Holland, P.P., of Bellevue; Rev. W. Leonard, P.P., of St. Henry's church, Twin Butte and Rev. W. MacCallum, secretary to His Excellency. The choir was directed by Mr. P. Zako with Mrs. Francis Maurer at the organ.

New Fire Pump Tested

The Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade recently received a high pressure McCulloch pump from the provincial government to be added to other equipment furnished to the brigade as a protective measure for fighting fires in the improvement districts in both East and West Coleman.

The brigade has had one practice in East Coleman, at which time 700 feet of two and one-half inch hose connected to the pump was stretched out and the brigade report that a good stream of water was still in evidence. Another test with two one and one-half inch hoses attached also proved successful. Water for the tests was pumped from the Crows Nest Pass River in the East Coleman and Willow Drive areas where tests were conducted.

The brigade has been conducting a series of practices whereby sources of water in outlying areas from wells in Grafton town. This week the brigade will attempt to locate sources of water along the Blairmore road district. By locating the sources of water in the improvement district the brigade can, in time of fire, get a supply of water in a hurry.

Proprietor Jack Nelson, Well Known Throughout The Pass

Catering to the service needs of the motoring public, the Kananaskis Service will carry the well known B-A products, offer lubrication service and some accessories. The proprietor is no newcomer to Coleman, Jack having been born here and in daily contact with most of the residents. Educated in Coleman schools, he has been employed with Paton's and Timmerman's bakery on delivery and operates the Pass Photo Service. Jack married the former Paraska Gushul and has two daughters and three sons.

Ken Snowden has been engaged as front end man for the station.

$20,000 SERVICE STATION OFFICIAL OPENING ON SAT.

Coleman's newest business venture will officially get underway Saturday morning when townspeople and officials gather to take the wraps off Jack Nelson's Kananaskis Service.

Operating for the past few weeks, the modern B-A station has started building a clientele before its official opening and is fast drawing in the tourist traffic from the west

The modernistic station is strategically located at the junction of No. 3 highway and the fast becoming famous Kananaskis Road. The last opportunity to gas up for the 130 mile drive of scenic grandeur along the Kananaskis, the station offers a great service to the tourist.

To Officiate At Opening

Mayor Frank Aboussafy will represent the Town of Coleman and officially open Coleman's newest business venture

Since the opening of the new road Canadians and Americans alike have been interested in the area that the road has opened. Locating the approach has been their biggest problem. Today the Kananaskis Service stands as the gateway

Prizes - Treats On Opening Day

Coleman's latest business venture will have its start on Sept. 26th, when Mayor Aboussafy officially opens the Kananaskis Service Station, operated by Jack Nelson at the junction of the main highway and the Kananaskis Road.

The opening ceremonies are scheduled to get under way at 10 a.m. and will be attended by officials of B-A Oil and an expected throng of Coleman residents, young and old. Coffee and doughnuts are offered to everyone in attendance along with treats for the kiddies. Seven valuable prizes will be won by opening day patrons.

Everyone is invited to attend the function and have a look at the new $20,000 building. Measuring 30 by 46 and interior decoration of two tone green, the station is comparable to those that you might find anywhere. Orazle Celli was awarded the contract for construction, subletting it to Stan Pytlarz, this combination has resulted in a fine piece of workmanship. Plumbing was handled by Lorcency, stuccoing by Tino D'Andrea and the electrical work by Les Emmerson. Mr. Nelson and his brother Harold attended to the painting requirements.

Diesel Short Course Offered At Tech

A six weeks' Diesel engine service and maintenance course will be offered this fall at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary.

The course, which is being offered for the first time, will give personnel a short, intensive training in the theory and techniques of Diesel engine maintenance.

Students will receive 120 hours of shop work on such subjects as cylinder re-boring, valve-inserting, testing and re-building injection equipment, and starting and electrical systems. Classroom instruction, totalling 60 hours, will deal with all types of Diesel engines, starting, fuel injection and cooling and lubricating oils and horsepower.

No specific educational requirements are needed for entry, although the course is designed to benefit particularly men with experience in the operation and care of Diesel engines.

The course runs from November 9 to Dec. 18. Enrollment is limited, so applications for the course should be made as soon as possible.

nadian Mounted Police Quarterly, written by Constable T. E. G. Shaw.

It was about 7 a.m., April 12, 1908—a Sunday—when Jim Kee, Chinese, walked out into the 20-foot wide alley at the rear of the Imperial Hotel in Frank, and nearly toppled over the man he took to be a drunk lying on the ground. Jim Kee couldn't speak English very well, and he didn't look too closely at the supposed "reveller", but, nevertheless, he figured something should be done about having the man removed. He re-entered the hotel and informed a countryman, Louis Wong. Mr. Wong evidently took a closer look at the "drunk" than Jim Kee did, because he saw a lot of blood on the man's neck.

Louis Wong returned to the hotel, and in an excited voice, yelled to Clifford Steeves, the clerk on duty: "Dead man in the alley, Mr. Steeves!" Steeves went out and had a look at the man. He didn't recognize him, but saw that he was quite dead, all right.

Sgt. William Haslett, who was in charge of the RNWMP detachment at Frank, lived with his wife at the Imperial Hotel, so Clifford Steeves wasted no time in rushing up to his room to inform him. Dressing quickly, the sergeant ran downstairs and out into the alley. Sergeant Haslett was horrified. He knew the man quite well.

It was Constable George Ernest Willmet, who was under his charge at Frank.

Looking Over Crime

It didn't take Sergeant Haslett long to come to the conclusion that Constable Willmet had been murdered. The right side of the young policeman's neck had been shot away, apparently by shotgun pellets. Willmet was lying on his back. He was dressed in civilian clothes. His shirt collar had been torn open by the force of the discharge and a collar stud was found embedded in his neck. There was a pool of blood on the ground under him and his right hand was spattered crimson. An empty .38 calibre revolver lay on the ground six inches from his body.

For the unfortunate victim, it terminated a short career in the Force. Willmet joined the RNWMP in Winnipeg on May 9, 1907, at the age of 24. He had been in the Force just 11 months.

A coroner's inquest was conducted in Frank the following day. I explaining how Willmet happened to be on duty in civilian clothes. Sergeant Haslett told the jury that earlier that previous week, the hardware store had been broken into, and an attempt had been made to gain access to one of the hotel's sample rooms. In an effort to apprehend the culprits, Haslett had instructed Constable Willmet to patrol the town's streets and back alleys in civilian clothes from 1 to 4 a.m. the mornings of April 11 and 12.

Little Hope for Solution

Constable Willmet's brutal murder or murders had left no clues whatsoever. The whole RNWMP, from Commissioner A. Bowen Perry down, was incensed. Nearly every member of the Force stationed in Southern Alberta was put to work on the case in some way or other.

On April 14, Sergeant Major Raven brought up his bloodhound from Lethbridge, then headquarters of the "K" Division. However, the dog was only successful in tracing the murdered man's patrol route.

Case Begins to Unfold

But then in October, 1911, a new "break" came in the case.

On October 2 a storekeeper in Frank advised Inspector Belcher he had some information which he thought might be of some interest. The inspector walked over to the store and was introduced to the merchant's driver, a German.

The driver told Inspector Belcher that on Sept. 27, 1911, he had been to Michel on business and had been taking with him a German woman, Mrs. John Jakubzik, who, with her husband had formerly lived in Frank. From this woman the driver learned over a few drinks of her husband skipping town, leaving his wife and four children. The woman also told the driver of several of her husband's close friends.

"That Matis (the driver did not know his surname) is as bad as the rest. He killed the policeman in Frank," the driver quoted Mrs. Jakubzik as saying. "Yes he did. He came to my husband's house to borrow a rifle the night the policeman was shot, and as my husband didn't have a rifle he gave him a shotgun, and he shot the policeman with it."

Story Leaks Out

Subsequently, investigations went into full swing again. Police learned when Jakubzik skipped Michel he had been accompanied by men known only as Fritz and August.

This Fritz had evidently told Jakubzik his wife wanted to run away with another man, and after hearing this the wife had threatened: "Fritz, you shut up or I will get you a few years over the policeman in Frank."

Then the driver from Frank came to police with new information from a friend. A man known as "Matis" had only blank shells for his gun, but on the night prior to the policeman being killed he had secured shotgun shells.

Next police were placed on the tail of John Jakubzik, who had robbed the Trites-Wood Company in Fernie of $800 worth of merchandise, and they were led to a woman who had known Jakubzik, Fritz Eberts and Mathias Jasbec. The latter two were previously known only as Fritz and Matis. Fritz had informed her of the murder in Frank happened.

On Oct. 20 Staff Sergeant John S. Piper first spotted Jasbec in the bar of the Kookana Hotel in New Michel, and he also located Fritz Eberts in the New Michel area.

On Nov. 2, 1911, Supt. Primrose received a wire from Corporal H. F. "Paddy" O'Connell at Bridger, Montana, stating he had arrested Jakubzik and that the latter had implicated three men from Michel in the Willmet case, one being Jasbec. Primrose immediately telephoned Piper in Michel and instructed him to arrest Jasbec and Eberts.

The next day, however, Primrose received another wire from O'Connell, which informed him that prisoner Jakubzik had attacked the chief of police at Bridger and had escaped, his trail seemingly vanishing. O'Connell, who had followed Mrs. Jakubzik to Livingston when she had gone to Montana, went to interview her.

She was not able to give a first-hand account of the crime, but only what she had heard her husband and others remark. She indicated, however, that the shooting had been between Fritz Eberts and Mathias Jasbec, and that according to talk Jasbec had done the actual killing.

How It Happened

Meanwhile, Piper had arrested Eberts and Jasbec and had returned the pair to Macleod. On Nov. 5 the murder weapon was found and seized, and two days later Jasbec issued a full statement implicating Eberts as the sole executor of the crime.

Fritz Eberts was formally charged with murder and his preliminary hearing was conducted in Macleod before Supt. Primrose on Nov. 11 and 14. Jasbec was jointly charged with murder, and his hearing held Nov. 15. Both were committed for trial.

Jasbec was the first witness to appear at Eberts' hearing, and he related the story of how Constable Willmet had been murdered.

On April 1, 1908, Jasbec related he had gone to Frank from Taber and there had met John Jakubzik and Fritz Eberts. He had stayed at the former's shack for a few days and then commenced to build a shack of his own near Eberts'. Following the arrival of his wife, the couple went to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Eberts.

Then on April 11 Eberts asked Jasbec for the loan of his double-barrelled shotgun, and Eberts stated that he was going out to steal provisions that night. Eberts tried to persuade Jasbec to accompany him, but the latter had at first refused and then eventually changed his mind when Eberts told him he would get no provisions if he did not go along too.

Eberts and Jasbec slept together in the kitchen of the former's shack and the two wives slept in another room. During the early morning of April 12 Jasbec was awakened by Eberts and the pair, both fully dressed, got up and went out. Eberts took Jasbec's shotgun with him, making the comment: "I always like to have something to defend myself with." Jasbec said he watched Eberts place two cartridges in the gun.

Fired Answer to Mountie

The two then went to the CPR station where Eberts attempted to break in but was unsuccessful. At that moment Jasbec said he saw the shadow of a man cross the road ahead of them and, becoming uneasy, he tried to persuade Eberts to leave. Eberts, however, was undaunted and told Jasbec that it was probably someone else out trying to steal. From the station the two went to the butcher store and once more Eberts was not able to gain entry.

Then Jasbec succeeded in persuading Eberts to give it up as a bad job and they started for home. Going down the alley behind the Imperial Hotel, they again spotted a man's shadow and this time Eberts grabbed the gun from Jasbec, who had been carrying it while Eberts had tried to break into the butcher shop, and said he was going to find out who the man was.

The pair split up with the idea of approaching the stranger from opposite directions.

When Jasbec was out of Eberts' sight, however, he turned towards the river and started for home. Then he heard a shot, and started to run. A few seconds later Eberts caught up with him and when he got near the latter's shack, Eberts said:

"As soon as I came around the corner, there was a fellow pointing a revolver at me and he asked me what I was doing here. I drew my gun up and fired at him. I think I killed him as he dropped without saying a word. I thought it was a policeman, but I could not make out for sure, he had no clothes on like a policeman." Then he added: "Let us go in the shack and be quiet for someone will come pretty soon."

Later that morning Eberts told Jasbec not to say anything about the affair as Jasbec would get into trouble as well as it was his gun that had been used.

Fritz Eberts was found guilty of murder and sentenced to hang at Macleod on June 12, 1912, but eventually had his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment at the Stony Mountain penitentiary in Manitoba.

Jasbec had his charge reduced to attempted burglary and drew a suspended sentence after being in custody a year.

Inquests Into Car Accidents Held

A coroner's inquest probing the death of three following a head-on collision of two cars near Burmis on Sept. 5, heard the evidence of two witnesses in the court house here Wednesday evening and then adjourned without a specific date being fixed for the next session.

Wednesday evening's hearing was held to receive the evidence of Mr. and Mrs. George Camperman of Lynden, Wash., so they could be permitted to return to their home in the United States without further delay.

Dr. Liesemer advised his jury that the inquest would extend over a number of months—until Peter Bablak, 34, at present in a Calgary hospital, was able to be present to give evidence.

Car Struck

In his statement to the jury, Mr. Camperman stated that he was proceeding east to Lethbridge on the No. 3 highway at approximately 3.30 p.m. on Sept. 5 and at a point about two miles east of Burmis somebody struck his car from the rear on the left side, knocking off a tail light and damaging his fender.

The impact pushed his car wheels into the ditch and he rode the shoulder of the road for a distance of about 500 feet before he got back on the road and stopped. He claimed that at the time his car was hit he was travelling about 45 to 50 miles per hour and had seen a car approaching him travelling west.

On getting out of his car he saw two cars back up the road that had crashed on the straight road. He stated he was sure it was the car that hit him that crashed into another oncoming car.

Mrs. Jacobs Camperman then gave her statement, establishing the same time, place and facts of being struck in the rear of their automobile. She claimed that she did not see a car approaching them, nor did she hear a crash. On stopping their own car, she saw the other crashed cars and proceeded up the road to give help if possible.

She stated that "we tried to get the dead man (Meinick) out of the Pontiac car and then saw the driver (Bablak) lying on the road" and he asked "Who is dead?"

They then went to the Oldsmobile car and saw the other two in the car and took the girl out and laid her on car seats on the road. The other man (Coates) was pinned under the steering wheel by his legs and when the girl was taken out he slumped over toward the passenger side of the car.

Mrs. Camperman stated that the girl spoke and said "be careful, be careful, my legs hurt."

No attempt was made to move Bablak as he was bleeding from his ears, nose and mouth. He was lying on the driver side of the Pontiac car and the driver's door was open.

A coroners jury presided over by Dr. E. J. Liesemer, was held in the Court House at Balmore a week ago Wednesday investigating into the death of Ernest McEwen, killed in a car train collision. The jury brought back a verdict of accidental death with no blame attached, and recommended that the speed limit be reduced to 10 m.p.h. at the 9th Ave. crossing and that consideration be given to placing signal lights on 9th Ave. and 7th Ave. crossings.

Giving evidence at the hearing were: Dr. R. F. Stewart, Const. Bob Heembrock, Gilbert Cooke, C.P.R. fireman; Sam Dobbes, engineer; R. J. Crookes, conductor; Charlie Benekites, trainman; Cliff Wingett, Dave Turand and Charlie Gilmar, eyewitnesses.

Mr and Mrs Simmons Move To Edmonton

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Simmons leave Saturday to reside in Edmonton after a residence of 8½ years in Coleman. Mr. Simmons has accepted a position with the Alberta General Insurance at the northern centre.

Coming to Coleman from Galt, Ont. Mr. Simmons has been employed as a timekeeper for the International mine. Both he and his wife were members of the United church and Mr. Simmons of the B.P.O. Elks, attaining the office of Leading Knight. Interested in sports and young people, he served for the past five years on the hockey sales committee and was one of the instigators of the Cubs and Cubmaster for the past two years.

Mr. Simmons was raised at Hillcrest.

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY of my dearly beloved son, Karl Geo. Hardy, who passed away at Coleman, Sept. 26th, 1950.

Plucked like a flower in bloom, So young, so bright, so happy, Our precious one was called away so soon,

A voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in our home that can never be filled.

Oh Dearest one, how we miss you,

And as dawns another year, In our lonely hours of thinking,

Our thoughts of you are ever near.

Oh how long and sad the day Since from earth you passed away,

We never did and never will Forget you Karl dear.

Lovingly remembered by his mother, Mrs. C. Hardy.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear son and brother, Alphonse Tiberghien, who passed away Sept. 23rd, 1950.

Three years have passed dear son and brother, Since you were laid to rest; And those that think of you today,

Are those that loved you best. Sadly missed by Mother, Lydia and Henry.

CIVIL DEFENCE

A meeting of the Civil Defence section organizers was held Thurs. Sept. 17, at which the problem of holding a civil defence school was discussed.

It was decided that such a school would be held and it was to be divided into two parts.

Part one of the school would be held for the benefit of anyone interested in civil defence information. Persons interested in taking this school will not necessarily be taken as civil defence workers unless they so desire.

The purpose of part one is to familiarize the general public with civil defence and not in the actual organization of the civil defence set up. An attempt will be made to outline the program of part one in the Coleman Journal each week prior to each session.

Part two of the school will concern itself in training for civil defence personnel. This will be divided into section training so that each section will know its own particular work.

Opening of the civil defence school will be announced when final arrangements for the use of the school have been made. These arrangements are expected to be completed in the near future.

Possible Coal Markets In Eastern Canada

Mines Minister Prudham, Premier Frost, of Ontario and Premier Manning of Alberta met at Niagara Fall, Ont., last week to discuss the piping of natural gas from Alberta to Ontario and the possibility of markets for Alberta coal in the eastern provinces. The following is the announcement made on coal discussions.

Coal came into the discussions with an assurance from Premier Frost that the Ontario government would support development of markets for Alberta's output. Premier Manning said a constant flow of Alberta coal into Ontario could be assured.

Stockpiling of Alberta coal at points from the Lakehead eastward will be undertaken to guarantee a constant supply, W. C. Whittaker, managing director of the Coal Operators' Association of Western Canada, told the meeting.

C.W.N.A. CONVENTION HELD IN WESTERN STYLE.—More than 350 delegates from the East to the West coast attended the 34th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association held at Saskatoon recently. Flashy pleid shirts worn by the delegates and rustic settings on the first floor of the Bessborough hotel established a western motif. To further a western spirit to the convention a rodeo was sponsored by the Saskatchewan program committee, and was especially appreciated by the Eastern delegates. The following pictures were taken during the three-day convention, and can be easily seen the delegates from everywhere enjoyed every minute of the proceedings:

Five of the more than 350 delegates of the special guests can be seen here in the doorway to the trading post, dead centre of convention headquarters. Left to right are John A. Vopni, of the Davidson (Sask.) Leader, who was in charge of arrangements for the convention; Jim McLeod, of radio station CKCK, Regina, a special guest; Bert McKay, of the Moosomin (Sask.) World-Spectator; J. R. McLachlan, of the Virden (Man.) Empire-Advance, and R. S. Evans, of the Morden (Man.) Times.

Seven of Canada's 10 provinces are represented in this photo of delegates. Left to right are: W. B. Sawdon, of the Sackville (N.B.) Tribune Post, who has served as second vice-president of the association for the past year; W. M. Lawson, of the Grimsby (Ont.) Independent; C. G. Hawkins, of the Manitou (Man.) Western Canadian; Mrs. Catherine Fraser, editor of the Omnipex Herald, published in Terrace, B.C.; Mrs. Rosaleen Dickson, of The Equity, Shawville, Que.; G. Cecil Day, of the Liverpool (N.S.) Advance, a director of the association representing the Maritimes for the past year, and Hal Martin, of The Witness, Westlock, Alta.

Many wives of the delegates accompanied their husbands, and some for the first time. They enjoyed the special entertainment prepared for them. The above pictures were taken in one of the salons of the hotel, where an afternoon tea was held. In the upper picture are, left to right, Mrs. H. G. Phillips from Verdun, Que.; Miss Marie Jose Wallot, Valleyfield, Que.; Mrs. W. M. Lawson, Grimsby, Ont.; Mrs. George Kroft, Selkirk, Man.; Mrs. A. H. ## OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

TEAR OUT THE GRASS

By Robert Oberfirst

ALBERT HARRISON had to get up out of the long grass because Max Stone, the farmer, caught sight of him and said, "There's work to do."

Albert muttered at the fates that had directed the farm employment agency to send him to this sun-baked farm. "You'll like it on the farm," they had said. "The Stones will take you right into the family. Stone is a good man but a sick man and he needs help." Albert could see nothing sick about Stone who worked from dawn to dusk. Even the two kids joined in the endless toil.

"Better finish hoeing the corn, Albert. Two hours to dinner."

"Okay, Mr. Stone. I was just resting. I'm not used to this farm work."

"You'll get used to it." Albert picked up the hoe and watched Stone span the horse. Prince to the plow. From the first he had abhorred the thick-soled shoes worn by the farmer; like two shapeless clods of earth on the land which Albert's own one-shoed city shoes had to follow whenever Stone showed him what next to hoe. This hoeing business! And the sun nothing but a furnace! As he plied the hoe, he thought back to the city where he belonged, where his parents lived. Shame that they were so poor they couldn't have him live with them while he wasn't working. Things had been fine until he was laid off at the gas works. That job had been a cinch.

Now the woman coming out, wearing her gingham apron in which she had just finished cooking the noonday meal. She carried a hoe. That woman was a fool!

Albert could see the two boys crawling along on their bare knees and weeding a patch of beta. Mr. Stone was yelling at the top of his voice, "Giddy-yap, Prince! Come on, you lazy Prince!" And this, thought Albert sourly, went on year after year.

Presently, Albert was dreaming again of the city. The dances and the girls! In the city you lived, laughed, had some fun.

Now Mrs. Stone was telling him, "Bend down, Albert. Tear out the grass. Don't tear out the corn." Albert winced. That was the purpose of her existence. Tear out the grass.

He could walk out, could hitch-hike back, could make little loans from the fellows he knew. But he remembered that the fellows had hated him for his attempts to scrounge. He remembered the hunger. No good. There were three squares here. Soon time. He could tell, from practice, by the sun at the top. "Come eat dinner," announced Mrs. Stone as she finished a row. "Max! Dinner!" She didn't have to call the boys. They were streaking toward the house.

At dinner—potatoes, beef, bread pudding, apple pie—Stone suddenly leaned forward on the table and the potato on his fork fell to the floor. "I knew it would come. The attack. Albert, take the truck and hurry for Dr. Fisher."

She applied cold compresses to Max's stomach. He breathed heavily.

The doctor was calm. "This time he will have to have an operation. It's the gall bladder. You take his feet, young man, and I'll take his head."

First one boy said boo-boo, then the other. Mrs. Stone placed a blanket over him to keep out drafts when they rode. Then she put her chubby hand with its torn nails on her husband's forehead. Albert didn't hear any sores at Dr. Fisher drove away with the farmer.

The woman in her gingham apron went to the shed and got her hoe. The two boys followed. "There's work to do," she said. They started toward the cornfield, but a few yards off she turned her head and her eyes looked straight at Albert. "Okay," he said.

Infestations Of Ergot In Rye Crop

The Saskatchewan department of agriculture has received numerous reports recently of unusually heavy infestations of ergot in the rye crop now being harvested. According to an announcement by R. E. McKenzie, director of the department's plant industry branch.

Mr. McKenzie pointed that rye grades ergot if it contains more than one-third of one per cent. ergot. The loss of yield is subject to approximately an 18-cent per bushel lower price than rye grading No. 2 CW.

Mr. McKenzie emphasized the danger of ergot bodies in rye, pointing out they are poisonous to humans and can cause abortion in livestock. Prolonged feeding of affected rye, he said, produces the disease ergotism among livestock.

He said that since planting of fall rye, which is normally done to best advantage during the early part of September, will soon commence, special attention should be given to the use of seed which is as free as possible from ergot bodies. He stated that if care is taken now it may help prevent heavier infection in next year's crop.

Mr. McKenzie noted several methods that are useful in controlling the spread of ergot bodies. For large seed lots, the use of fairly heavy air blasts will remove a considerable amount of ergot from the seed.

In small lots of seed, ergot bodies can be completely removed by immersing the seed in a 20 per cent. salt solution made by dissolving two pounds of salt to a gallon of water. The ergot bodies will float off and the rye seeds will settle. The seed must be rinsed and dried following this process.

Other control measures include the rotation of crops in preference to rye following rye, and the cutting of native grasses along headlands. Mr. McKenzie pointed out that native grasses act as a primary source of infection for ergot in rye.

Seeding slightly deeper than normal will bury the ergot bodies thereby preventing them from germinating and causing infection in the crop later. Seeding should not be done at a much greater depth than two inches, however.

Old Street Car Converted Into Church

CALGARY.—Luxurious outdoor swimming pools aren't usually associated with churches, especially when the church is interdenominational and fashioned from an old streetcar.

Such is the arrangement that has made a holiday motel located on Bragg Lake near here such a success. The architects, Cliff Butler and Fred Fry of Calgary, spent three years on the project. Sixteen abandoned street cars that once rattled through Calgary streets make up the motel. Thirteen have been converted as spacious cabins designed for four people, one as a shower car, one as a coffee car, and the last a church car complete with organ.

They are grouped in a wide circle around a park, the centre of which holds an outdoor swimming pool 85 feet by 35 feet.

The original seats have been left in the church-streetcar, except for a cleared space at one end that serves the organ. Nearly 40 persons can be seated at one time.

The cross that adorns its roof was cut from spruce. The church didn't really figure in the camp plan at first, but grew with requests of local residents to use one of the cars as a Sunday school.

New Strains Of Poultry Said To Resist Disease

VANCOUVER.—Poultry breeders are producing new strains of chickens resistant to a disease for which there is no known cure, two American poultry experts said.

Dr. F. B. Hutt of Cornell University told delegates attending the annual conference of the Poultry Science Association that he and other poultry experts at the university had been developing strains resistant to leucosis for 15 years.

Leucosis, one of the most widespread poultry diseases in North America, is similar to cancer in human beings. It can cause paralysis or blindness in fowl and often results in death, particularly among chicks.

Dr. Hutt advised poultrymen to keep newly-purchased baby chicks in isolation for six to eight weeks to prevent introduction of disease to their premises and flocks.

Dr. Leslie R. Card, University of Illinois, said there is no known test for leucosis prior to appearance of the symptoms, and no known antidote. Breeding for natural resistance was the only possible defence at present.

IS THIS A RECORD?

GULL LAKE, Sask. — A Holstein cow, born and raised on the farm of Sven Persson and Son, south of Tompkins, 13 years of age, has had 16 calves; three sets of triplets, three single calves; and two sets of twins. This looks like a record for the district, or has any farmer or cattle breeder anything better to offer.

HAIL CLAIMS IN ALBERTA MAY HIT RECORD

CALGARY, Alta. — Alberta farmers will collect at least $3,500,000 from the Provincial Hail Insurance Board for storm damage to some 1,000,000 acres of grain crop, it was learned.

Board Chairman Glen Elder said 467 claims for hail damage in 1953 had been received, and the total probably would amount to the all-time high mark of 5,506 claims filed in 1947.

Walter Ashfield Honored By Newspapermen

In recognition of many years of zealous service to, and on behalf of weekly newspapers, one of Saskatchewan's prominent weekly editors, Walter Ashfield, of Grenfell, was made a life member of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers association at the 34th annual convention in Saskatoon. Mr. Ashfield has for several years been secretary-manager of the Saskatchewan division and has served for some years on the executive of national association as well. His paper, The Grenfell Sun, won first prize for best front page in a national competition for papers up to 1,500 circulation.

Report Cards Made Simple For Parents

VICTORIA.—British Columbia parents this school term will get coaching in how to translate their children's report cards.

Education Minister Tilly Rols-ton said enclosures will be made in report cards explaining to parents how to unscramble the markings and find out where their youngsters stand in their grades and how they're progressing.

Education officials have steered away from giving set marks for grades because, they feel, that system labels a child. They point out that a child's progress in school courses is only one phase of his overall character.

But parents have criticized the present system, which grades a child's progress, according to his native ability and environment, because they can't understand it. The explanatory notes to be included in the report cards starting this term will explain to parents that even if a child gets a "U" for unsatisfactory development, he isn't necessarily dull.

BELIEVES HAIL PROBLEM HAS BEEN SOLVED

WINNIPEG.—The Manitoba director of an American weather modification company says the hail problem is "definitely licked."

Lloyd McSorley of the Weather Resources Corporation told a Winnipeg Kiwanis Club meeting that results of a $4-year, $2,000,000 research project at Denver have proved hail damage can be controlled.

Experiments undertaken in one of the worst hail areas of Colorado had succeeded in reducing hail to "mush snow."

He said two major American insurance companies were interested in the project.

Cost of controlling hail is higher than the rain-increase projects his firm undertakes, Mr. McSorley said. Higher-priced chemicals and more generators were needed.

He said weather control is definitely a science now "in the same stages that television was 10 years ago."

Mr. McSorley is director of a 400,000-acre weather modification project which began operating in southwestern Manitoba this spring. He said his organization also is setting up a 5,000,000-acre contract west of Saskatoon.

Life Is Free And Easy At Stony Rapids

STONY RAPIDS, Sask.—The climate here could fade to nothing and uranium ore become just another precambrian rock, but Stony Rapids, white-painted community situated beside uranium-productive Fond du Lac, about 600 miles north of Regina would realize little difference.

Trappers would still work their lines, prospectors would dig, nurses would care for the ill, and the R.C.M.P. continue to maintain its vigil.

Here, with a glimpse into the lives of a few residents of this northern settlement, is the reason why.

Douglas Stevens, factor of the Hudson's Bay Co. post, has been at Stony Rapids seven years. In summer he sells outfit to prospectors and mining camps and in the winter he falls back on the fur trade.

"We like this country," he says. "We like the freedom. No one is tied down by social customs. Outside, you're compelled to go places and keep up with the Joneses. We don't have to wait for a gift-ed invitation to go and visit someone."

Miss Margaret Lewis tends the three-bed hospital. This will be her third year at Stony Rapids. She came from Wales and served as a public health nurse with the health department in Regina before moving north.

Last Easter she fought a measles epidemic among the Indians. Sixteen were crowded into the tiny hospital at one time. Twelve others were kept in the school. After four days, when their fever subsided, they were sent home to make room for new cases.

Nurse Lewis travels about to immunize the Indian children. In the winter she makes her trips by dogteam. In the summer, she's sometimes lucky enough to hitch a ride in an aircraft.

"I like it," she says. "I came for the experience and I'm getting it."

Fred Erickson left Sweden in 1911 and found this country to be like the far north of his homeland. He paddled a canoe into Stony Rapids in 1917 and there he built the log cabin that has served him ever since. He has fished, trapped, and prospected in the Northwest Territories just 60 miles to the north.

What does Fred Erickson like about the north?

"That's a hard thing to explain," he says. "It's a free life. After you've been to the outside for a month or so you're always glad to get back."

Of the social life here, Cpl. Walter Stevenson, of the R.C.M.P. says, "We don't get bushed."

A sleek 35-foot diesel-powered launch called "Stony Rapids" carried the R.C.M.P. officer through the endless chain of lakes and rivers of the area.
